

International Workers Memorial Day

Sunday
28 April 2013

11am Tower Hill

Opposite Tower Hill
underground Station
EC3N 4DJ
next to Tower Bridge.

Rally with speakers at the statue of the Building Worker

Remember the Dead and Fight for the Living

Join us in the fight for workers health and safety

- Don't let the government get away with their downgrading of health and safety law.
- Say no to more deaths and serious injuries and industrial disease.
- Don't let them get away with their plans to make it even harder to get compensation.
- Demand laws are brought in to put an end to scandal of blacklisting.
- In the London area the latest HSE figures show that in 2012 19 people died from unsafe workplace activities, of which 8 were construction workers, 4 from other industries and 7 deaths of members of the public, in addition thousands were seriously injured or diseased.

As part of our plans to commemorate Workers Memorial Day 2013 the Construction Safety Campaign will publicize the courageous battle that is now taking place by workers for justice against the blacklist.

This year's event at the Building Worker statute in Tower Hill is being jointly organized by UCATT London Region and the Construction Safety Campaign with support from the London Hazards Centre.

Please phone us
if you can help to carry out leafleting 07747795954

